The Bureau, founded in 2001, assists educational institutions, associations, and companies find just the right speakers for their events. The cornerstone of the success of our company has been the time we take to understand each client's needs so that we may assist them in choosing a speaker who will be a great fit for their particular group.

"We were very impressed with the impassioned approach each of the presenters took with our students and their willingness to share personal stories in hopes of inspiring all of our stakeholders. Each of the presenters was well prepared, kept all students fully engaged with their own words and interactive video, took plenty of time to answer questions, and touched on the most important issues each of them face as middle school aged youngsters. The services your bureau provide are certainly one of a kind."
